HER "BOY" A TREASURE.

American Women.

An American woman who had gone to live in Shanghai was compelled, soon after her arrival, to entertain some important business associates of her husband's. Her finest china, glass, and so forth had not yet arrived from the States. Nevertheless, she determined to give a dinner and called in her "Number one boy."

"Now, boy," she said impressively, "I entertain three gentlemen at dinner to-morrow, very fine gentlemen. Must be nice, everything."

Bowing and scraping, he went off to inform the other seven servants. .The next evening as she ushered her friends into the dining hall she gasped in astonishment. Before her was a table spread with the most exquisite linen, cut glass, silver and delicate china. Over it all hung a gorgeous cut, glass chandelier. Course after course was served as if by magic.

The instant she could leave ber guests she sought her "Number one boy.

"Boy, boy!" she exclaimed. "Where you get such beautiful things?"

The boy beamed with satisfaction. "Everything very nice, best possible! Me very good friend Russian ambassador's 'Number one boy'; Russian ambassador go out to dinner. Me bor-Very nice, very nice!"-The Sunday Magazine.

THE LETTER OF THE LAW.

Sheriff Had Provided Exactly What Judge Called For.

The Hon, John Steel was a sheriff in Missouri. A new county judge was elected, and Steel, thinking to pay the judge a delicate compliment, selected for his first panel of jurors every fat man in the county; the judge weighed nearly 300 pounds, says the Saturday Evening Post.

The day was hot, and Steel, when he took the jurors out to dinner, fed them so heartly that all went to sleep during the afternoon. The judge was furious.

'What do you mean," he roared at the sheriff, "by bringing those sleepy-heads into court as a jury? They haven't heard any of this afternoon's evidence. I discharge the panel. Go out now and get a panel of men who will stay awake. I want men with a single eye to justice, not dolts like these!"

Steel went out and rode the country that night. When the fudge appeared next morning Steel had a panel of oneeyed men for him.

Grushing a Critic.

School superintendents, among their many duties, are expected to report on the personality of the teachers in their district. It is not always easy to get "a line" on that quality of a teacher, so many are lenient in the work. One of the superintendents, however, is never satisfied until he has made the test for orderliness by asking the teacher to open his or her

Had Confidence in Himself. It is recorded of the earl of Mansfield that he once dismissed a servant. but wrote for him a "character." as follows: "The bearer, John —, has served me for three years in the capacity of coachman. He is an able driver and a very sober man. I dis-charged him because he cheated me." A day or two later the man returned to thank his old master for the help he had afforded him in getting him a new berth. How had the testimonial helped him? The man explained that new master had observed that ability to drive and sobriety were the qualities he required in a coachman. for the cheating, his employer had sald: "I'm a Yorkshireman, and I'll

PRESERVED HER LANGUID CALM.

His Acquaintance Proves of Value to True Aristocratic Indifference Shown by New York Woman.

> During the performance of "Martha" at the Metropolitan opera house, in New York, at a time when Caruso was caressing the top of the proscenium arch with his liquid notes, something like a flash of white light shot from one of the upper boxes of the orchestra. A lady in the box from which the flash seemed to have started languidly placed her hand to her throat and said to a gentleman at her side:

'How annoying! The gold fastening of a diamond necklace she wore had parted, and the string of gems, probably a score of them, worth $10,000 or more, had fallen into the lap of a lady in an orchestra seat and thence to the floor. The gentleman in the box, when the situation was explained, calmly arose, stepped to the rear, called an usher and whispered some instructions to in the meantime the lady upon whom the string of diamonds had descended was following the performance and the music.

To her came the usher, after an appropriate interval. He inquired in a whisper if anything had dropped from the boxes. The lady drew uside her skirt and pointed to the necklace on the floor. The usher picked it up, car ried it back to the box and the incldent was closed.

None had been disturbed save the direct actors in the little side event, and they made no noise. It was simply an incident in life in New York. It couldn't happen anywhere clas-

THEN HE WANTED TO SLEEP.

Mrs. Blochumper Had Found Cure for Husband's Insomnia

"My husband is dreadfully troubled with insomnia," said Mrs. Bloobumper. He wakes up about 2 o'clock every morning, and then he can't go to sleep again. He tosses about until daylight, and growls and fusses so that I can't get any sleep myself."

"My husband used to be troubled that way," replied Mrs. Cawker, "but I discovered a remedy which never falls.

"Oh, do tell me about it."

"Well, I noticed that my husband always slept the soundest when it was time to get up. No matter how wake ful he had been all night, just as soon as rising time came be went to sleep and slept like a log."

"That's just the way with Mr. Bloohumper, exactly. But tell me what you did.

Well, when Mr. Cawker woke up in the night and began to toss about and say he couldn't get a wink of sleep, I simply went across the room, pretended to look at that clock, and said, "Oh, that's all right; you don't need to go to sleep again. It's time for you to get up.' That always put him to sleep in a minute."

How They Vote in Paris.

'In Paris only one-fifth of the voters go to the polls and cast their ballots," said R. G. Graham, an American who has lived in Paris as a business man for several years past. "This is not because they cannot vote, but because they do not care to. Everybody in the city is interested in politics, but when the time to vote comes few care to go to the polls.

"The man who wins is most often the man who promises everything. For instance, in my district last time a man was elected who promised to out a new shed on the market I know of another deputy who was kept in office 15 years because he promised to add an extra sardine to the daily rations of the soldiers. There are so many soldiers that that made a big Werence They did not got the gar dine, but he continued to promise and kept office."

Jerome Jones' Gift.

Surgery Without Scars.

Scarless surgery is numbered among the most recent achievements in medical science. It is explained that in making the first incision the scalpel does not cut the skin at right angles with the surface, but passes through it at a slant.

After the operation is performed a rigid dressing of wool and glass is applied to prevent contraction and as much pressure is brought to bear on the wound as is safe. According to foreign advices the London surgeon who conceived the idea and successfully put it into practice is unable to meet the demands for his services.

WHAT A RACE SINGS ABOUT.

Each Nationality Has Its Own Range of Favorite Ballads. "It may or may not be the case that a race's temperament can be judged from its folk songs," said a traveler, "but it is interesting to note the difference of subject matter in the songs of various peoples. "The Irishman, for instance, seems to sing for the most part about his lady love. Hardly any of his songs are not addressed to his 'Somebody Mayourneen. "The Scot, on the other hand, sings about his country and its history, as a rule 'Scots Wha Hae,' 'Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonnie Doon,' 'Loch Lomond' and so on might be taken as exam

"The Englishman, it is interesting to note, sings about himself all the time. His songs are about his own glory, his ships, his men, his power He refers occasionally to old England but only as a place he made famous by his own prowess. Unlike the Irish and the Scotch, he sings little of his women and his country's beauties."

Churches Build Roads.

No part of the Perkjomen valley having thus far received a share of the state's good roads appropriation, an energetic campaign for improved highways has been opened in this vi cinity, and the two strongest and oldest churches of the region are lending hearty cooperation, says the Philadel phia Record.

The members of the New Goshenhoppen Reformed church, who want the road from this borough to the church improved, have decided not to wait for state aid. They have effected an agreement with the supervisors of Upper Hanover township and will contribute $30 0toward a fund for rebuilding the road, the township providing the remainder of the money
